Istanbul: Memories and the City (Istanbul: Hat'ralar ve 'ehir) is a largely autobiographical memoir by Orhan Pamuk that is deeply melancholic. It talks about the vast cultural change that has rocked Turkey – the mending battle between the modern and the receding past. It is also a eulogy to the lost joint family tradition.

Istanbul: Memories and the City - Wikipedia

His portrait of his city is thus also a self-portrait, refracted by memory and the melancholy–or hüzn–that all Istanbulis share: the sadness that comes of living amid the ruins of a lost empire. With cinematic fluidity, Pamuk moves from his glamorous, unhappy parents to the gorgeous, decrepit mansions overlooking the Bosphorus; from the dawning of his self-consciousness to the writers and painters–both Turkish and foreign–who would shape his consciousness of his city.

November 27, 2020. Istanbul: Memories and the City by Orhan Pamuk. My rating: 2 of 5 stars. I have this sense that Istanbul ought to be the great city of the world, based upon its long history and grand location. Pamuk, the great Turkish novelist and Nobel prize winner, instead writes about the melancholy of the city almost two centuries into its decline from being one of the great cosmopolitan capitals of the world.
