When it comes to memoir and memories, you " tell the stories as accurately and artfully as your abilities allow, " as Tracy Kidder and Richard Todd say in Good Prose: The Art of Nonfiction. The Who, What, Where and When of a story shouldn ' t vary between two people, but the How or Why might unfold in entirely different ways.

Telling the Truth in Memoir: More Than Just Facts - Write ...

Writing the past is never a neutral act. Writing always asks the past to justify itself, to give its reasons... provided we can live with the reasons. What we want is a narrative, not a log; a tale, not a trial. This is why most people write memoirs using the conventions not of history, but of fiction.
